

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Provost Baicker convened the Committee on Teaching Principles and Policies and charged its members on January 9, 2025, with recommending how to align teaching efforts of faculty and other academics with the University's education and research missions and demand for instruction, making the most of available resources to deliver an exceptional education for students. The committee's conclusions are detailed in the Report of the Committee on Teaching Principles and Policies, submitted to the Provost in May 2026.